

food • community • sustainability

Corporate Meal Packaging Program

Who We Are, What We Do

Teaming with our corporate partners, Rise Against Hunger works to feed the hungry by engaging employees in an exciting and educational hands-on volunteer effort. Rise Against Hunger comes to the corporate location and offers a customizable turn-key event. Each event can easily be adapted to a company's size and desired scope of involvement.

Opportunities for Involvement

Rise Against Hunger can provide the tools and resources you need for a meaningful employee engagement program with our turn-key, hands-on Meal Packaging Event. Participating in this fun and impactful program also will demonstrate your organization's interest and commitment to corporate social responsibility initiatives. These events are great for new hire orientations, department training programs, and team building.

Together we can create a customized and scalable event and develop a schedule that suits your needs. Our meal packaging Program can fit any size audience from 30 to over 1,000 employees.

Benefits of volunteering with our Meal Packaging Program include:

- Increased employee engagement offerings
- Opportunities for leadership development
- Strengthening employee relationships among colleagues
- Increasing awareness of your company's commitment to service and volunteering
- Supporting the fight against global hunger
- A tangible, hands-on activity for employees that leaves them feeling good about giving back

Testimonials

"I received nothing but positive feedback from our event on Friday, except that I should've signed us up for more meals! There was also curiosity about tasting the meal, but I pointed out that someone might need that sample meal more than us. I hope to do it again sooner than later!"

— Genentech

"Combine vitamin packets, soy, and rice with fast-moving volunteers; mix in helpful instructors; ship these ready-to-prepare meals to feed hungry people around the world. You can donate money or donate time while you have fun and eliminate hunger. However you want to participate, just do it!"

— Google

AGAINST HUNGER

food • community • sustainability

International and Multi-site Events

With 20 U.S. and six international Rise Against Hunger locations, companies have engaged in multi-office events across the U.S. and around the globe. We can provide a meal packaging event almost anywhere in the world. For our global corporate partners, this kind of international hands-on participation can be transformational for both the company and for those who benefit from the meals. We can accommodate a same day, same week or same month events. If you are looking for an opportunity to unite for a cause, consider giving your offices a national or global volunteer activity.

New Hire Orientation and Intern Events

Do you want to demonstrate to new employees your company's philanthropic culture and not just talk about it? Rise Against Hunger's Meal Packaging Program provides a perfect activity to build strong bonds with new colleagues while giving back to a worthwhile cause. We can work with your company to provide a customized program highlighting your organization's vision for giving back and commitment to serve in the world. This is a perfect opportunity to say from day one that your company cares about giving back.

Corporate Volunteer Days

Does your company have days of service throughout the year? Many companies holding their first Rise Against Hunger event have experienced their highest volunteer turnout in history. A packaging event also is a great opportunity for those who can't leave the office. If you are looking to increase volunteer turnout, consider Rise Against Hunger to kick-off or cap-off your corporate volunteering initiative.

Department Training Activity

Do you have a department looking for a team building activity or a chance to volunteer together? Consider packaging meals with Rise Against Hunger as a part of your training day. We can hold the event right at your office or wherever your training location may be. Get the most out of your training day by building bonds of trust while working together as a team.

Take Your Child to Work Day

Many companies offer children a chance to see where their parents spend the day at work. While letting children get the experience of an office environment, consider taking a break and holding a volunteer activity with Rise Against Hunger. This is a great way to break up the day and for parents to work alongside their children at the office. Companies that have held this activity have given Rise Against Hunger rave reviews and it's a great memory for kids to leave with on Take Your Child to Work Day.

Testimonials

"Rise Against Hunger Meal Packaging Events are an excellent way to work as a team, meet people, and provide real help to those who need it."

— Google

"Thank you so much for a fantastic event today!! Both Van and I had such a wonderful experience and we've gotten some rave reviews from volunteers already. It was a pleasure working with you, and we're very much looking forward to future events together!"

— Franklin Templeton Investments

Contact

For more information on how your company can work with Rise Against Hunger and help transform the lives of your staff and those in need, please contact our Corporate Relations Team:

Karen Sanders Noe
knoe@riseagainsthunger.org

rev12/16